

10th Eurasian Peace Science Conference

CONFERENCE INFORMATION

The 10th Annual Eurasian Peace Science Conference will take place on January 13, 2022, in a virtual platform (through Zoom, not webinar), from 800 AM to 1000 PM (2200) GMT/UTC time.

Proposals addressing this year's theme "Peace Science in Times of Pandemic" as well as all aspects of peace science are welcome.

The Conference is sponsored by The Leonard Davis Institute for International Relations, in cooperation with the Israeli Association for International Studies; the World International Studies Committee; the Global Research Network on Peaceful Change; and Peace Science Society \(International\).

To facilitate a broad and open dialogue worldwide, there is no registration fee for the 10th Annual Conference due to its virtual nature in these extraordinary times. Hence, peace scholars and students around the world will be able to access free of charge all the slots and sessions of the Conference through Zoom.

The Conference's goals are to broaden cooperation and intellectual dialogue among Eurasian, Middle Eastern, and Global North and Global South peace science scholars, to encourage the fruitful interaction with the worldwide peace science community, and to bring together the most updated and relevant research on conflict and peace-related topics throughout the entire world.

The deadline for submissions of individual papers and organized panels is August 31, 2021. Proposals submitted after that date will only be considered if presentation slots remain available. We will notify you by email about your prospective participation in the Conference by September 30, 2021.

Call for Papers and Proposal Submission

We invite the submission of proposals for individual papers and organized panels/roundtables for the 10th Eurasian Peace Science Conference, which will take place on January 13, 2022 online through Zoom.

We welcome proposals for both organized panels/roundtables, individual papers, as well as proposals related to this year's theme "Peace Science in times of Pandemic." All aspects of the peace science discipline are welcome, including in particular:

- (a) empirical studies of political violence and peaceful resolution;
- (b) quantitative and formal analyses of conflict and peace processes;
- (c) peace science methodology, including qualitative approaches, as well as theories; (d) alliances, investment, trade, and conflict;
- (e) economic and political causes of international and domestic violence, encompassing war, ethnic conflict, terrorism, and criminal activity;
- (f) contemporary regional conflicts, particularly in Eurasia and the Middle East;
- (g) security and foreign policy;
- (h) conflict analysis, management, and resolution;
- (i) peaceful change;
- (j) peace and global issues and challenges, including coping with pandemics such as COVID-19.

Individual Paper Submissions: Prospective authors (graduate students or faculty members) are invited to submit an individual paper proposal that should include: a tentative title, an abstract (150-300 words) and contact information including academic affiliation, level of studies (if a graduate student), and academic rank (if a faculty member), as well as your e-mail/website. Please include three/four key words/concepts from your paper, and indicate the relevant category from the list above (for instance, "empirical study of political violence.")

Click here to submit an individual paper proposal.

Organized Paper Panels and Roundtables Submissions: We welcome the submission of organized paper panels and roundtables, based on the topics mentioned above as well as other themes related to peace. In this case, the submission should include a title and a general abstract (300-400 words) for the common theme of the panel. For organized paper panels, the submission should include a detailed list of all the participants and their respective paper abstracts, with all the relevant information noted above, as well as a suggested discussant. If a discussant is not nominated, we will assign a conference participant for that role. Organized panels typically would include four to five presenters. Roundtable proposal should include a chair and up to six additional participants. Paper panel proposals should include a chair, discussant, and up to five paper presenters (chairs can also serve as discussants and/or presenters).

Click here to submit a paper panel proposal.

Click here to submit a roundtable proposal.

Volunteering to Serve as Chairs/Discussants: Please indicate in your submission whether you are willing to serve as chair or discussant in the Conference panels. You could also indicate your area of expertise from the ten themes mentioned above (from a to j).

The deadline for submissions of individual papers and organized panels is August 30, 2021. Proposals submitted after that date will only be considered if presentation slots remain available. We will notify by email about your prospective participation in the conference by September 30, 2021.

We look forward to meeting online in January 2022!

World International Studies Committee

GLOBAL RESEARCH NETWORK ON PEACEFUL CHANGE

PEACE SCIENCE SOCIETY
(INTERNATIONAL)

Academic Committee

davisinst.conf@mail.huji.ac.il

Prof. Arie M. Kacowicz,

Academic Convenor,
Department of International Relations,
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Mount Scopus, Jerusalem, Israel
arie.kacowicz@mail.huji.ac.il

Dr. Galia Press-Barnathan,

Department of International Relations and
Leonard Davis Institute for International Relations,
Hebrew University of Jerusalem
Mount Scopus, Jerusalem, Israel
Galia.press-barnathan@mail.huji.ac.il

Prof. Reşat Bayer,

Department of International Relations
Koç University, Istanbul, Turkey
rbayer@ku.edu.tr

Prof. Belgin San Akca,

Department of International Relations,
Koç University, Istanbul, Turkey
bakca@ku.edu.tr